

EDDY TOWNSEND

A follow-up to the Eddy Townsend story, printed in the previous edition of the Wychwood Magazine.

His unmarked grave was the subject of much discussion amongst his friends and contemporaries and the local Royal British Legion was asked if the grave could be marked with something so that he might be identified.

Having obtained the Vicar's permission to place such a marker it was then decided to do so with a simple, engraved, wooden cross. The wood was purchased, made, engraved and installed by a villager who wishes to remain anonymous but whose efforts are very much appreciated.

Finally, on Friday, 8th October, the Vicar, The Reverend Mike Williams, held a Commemoration and Dedication Service of Prayers, Poems and a Blessing around the grave, which was attended by over a dozen people and during which a wreath of poppies was laid.

The Royal British Legion would like to thank the Vicar, all those people who attended and the anonymous villager who made the cross.

WE WILL REMEMBER THEM

Kingham Choral Society

Big breaths!

Fill your lungs with song and laughter. Kingham Choral Society is the oldest choir in the area – founded before the First World War.

No audition required, just an enjoyment of singing with some lovely folk. We enjoy stimulating music of every persuasion so join us for an activity for those long dark evenings! It is health inducing, energetic, stirs the old grey cells a treat and makes you forget your cares and worries.

We meet every Wednesday during term time at 8pm in the music room of Kingham Hill School. Ring 659445 for information or a lift.

Hilary Harman

Evening classes in acting at The Oxford School of Drama.

If you are interested in drama and would enjoy working in a relaxed and fun environment with one of our full time tutors then this is the course for you. It runs on one week-day evening for five weeks at Sansomes Farm Studios in Woodstock. The total cost of the course is £70 plus VAT. No experience necessary. If you would like more information please contact the Administrator, Natalie Young on 01993 812883.