

The Wychwood

IT HAS BEEN SAID that the only inevitable things in life are death and taxes, however there is a third – price rises. It is therefore with much reluctance that we are obliged to raise our cover price from the next issue to 25p, and suscriptions to £1.50 per volume. The last increase was nine years ago, since when we have increased the size of the magazine, and printing costs have risen a few times.

Our many distributors will be busy collecting subscriptions soon, so may we take this oportunity to thank them all for their hard work and say what vital 'cogs in the wheel' they are for the magazine.

The X3 bus service is beginning to be used more, with people expressing their appreciation for the increased convenience of going to Oxford without the hassles of traffic and costs of parking. Once again it will be a case of 'use it or lose it' but if sufficiently well supported it could be that the operators would be willing to consider an extension to some evenings, enabling us to attend shows and films further afield.

I thought I caught a glimpse of spring, but perhaps I was hallucinating!
