OXFORDSHIRE COUNTY COUNCIL

CULTURAL SERVICES

Monday, 3rd December 2001 was a great day for the Wychwoods when the newly extended Library was re-opened to the public.

The previous week had been so busy transferring stock and re-arranging all the new books. All this was done while working around builders and fitters but at last all was ready and we were open. And everyone is in agreement – it is wonderful!

At the time of going to press four weeks have passed. It has been a very busy time and a delight to welcome everyone to the Library .

Finding your way around is easy. There are headings on the shelves. There is space to stand and look and browse at the new books. We now have the weekly local papers and you can sit in comfort and read them. The workstations can be used for homework and research.

The Internet is there for communication, as is the County Access Point.

The new Saturday opening is proving useful to many and all aspects of the Library are being used in the 2 1/2 hours that we are open.

A number of new members have joined the Library since viewing the new premises and we look forward to seeing more of you in the future. Do please come and use your Library .
