

The new
much brighter
and larger reception area.

WYCHWOOD LIBRARY OPENING

It was with great excitement on Monday December 3rd that a large group of us waited outside the newly extended library for County Council Chairman, Mr Charles Shouler, to cut the ribbon and declare it open.

For the last six months we had watched the building work progress with growing excitement and at last the great day had arrived. Three years ago the Friends of the Wychwood Library was formed to avert the library's closure and yet with the help of the community and our local Councillor we were now here to celebrate the start of a new era in the life of the Wychwood Library. A life that was started back in the 1930's by Dr. Gordon Scott Snr.

Stepping inside the library you are immediately impressed with the light and space and brightness. The children's area is colourful and welcoming to encourage young minds to a lifetime of reading and exploration. For the adults the increased number of books and the additional computer facilities have brought our library firmly into the 21st century.

Rosemary Hartley, December 2001.

Receiving the approval of the younger readers.

