

Residential home is under threat of closure Is it goodbye to Langston House?

Surely, on hearing the news that The Order of St. John Care Trust were considering the closure of Langston House, we must all have thrown up our hands in horror. The love, care and dedication given to our elderly residents are second to none. These elderly people who have worked hard, brought up families, some who have served Queen and country in the Armed Services and believe in our beloved England, are now being informed that their home may be closed and their reward will be to send them farther afield to live out their lives. This will, of course, make it difficult for families and friends to visit them.

of people at the meeting on 24th October 2002 to voice their opinions against any closure. Perhaps if we can all shout loud enough this closure can be averted. One lady suggested making Langston House larger – with serious thought and careful planning WHY NOT?

Burglary at St. Mary's Church, Shipton

On October 1st someone broke into St. Mary's Church, Shipton and stole items such as communion wine and a small amount of cash from the coffee float.

Obviously there is no need to put into words how sad and dispiriting such a crime is against the church. The Police have been involved but no culprits have been found.
