Ready for a musical challenge?

The Friars Court Singers, based in Clanfield, near Lechlade, are looking for a new choir master and a pianist for 2003. The founder of the choir, Lisa Clarke has now decided to step down after 4 years owing to her move to Oxford. She is leaving a gap that is hard to fill.

The choir consists of enthusiastic singers of mixed abilities from professional singers to sight-readers. The emphasis is on having fun and performing two or three times of year at local events.

The Singers have successfully performed a range of songs from classical music to light opera and show tunes. In the past four years they have helped to raise money for the Red Cross and other worthwhile causes.

The men and women who form the Friars Court Singers are very enthusiastic and love to sing. They have kept the momentum of the group going but it now looks as if it will fold as they have been unable to find a choirmaster in the Clanfield area by word of mouth.

A patient and understanding pianist is also required!

To add to this the choir is also looking for singers to boost its numbers, in particular, it needs men! There are currently 18-24 singers in the group. All you need is bags of enthusiasm and the ability to commit to at least four practice nights for each performance.
