

The Wychwood

A Time for Reflection.

Editor:
Christine Halliday

Once again, the villages have very generously supported various fund-raising events over the Christmas period and I am sure that many people responded to appeals for money to help those who have lost everything in South Asia.

Many of you will have seen the winning entries from our Photographic Competition on display in the Library. I hope this has inspired some of you to think about entering the 2005 competition, particularly our younger readers. Look out for our display of photographs old and new in the Library window early in February.

We have had a wonderful year delving into the archives of the last 25 years but it is time to look forward again. We intend to focus on the young achievers in our communities; whether they excel at sport or the arts, are academic or skilled craftsmen (or women) or are good citizens making life better for those around them, we are sure that you have someone whose story we can tell. Please let me have your nominations and we look forward to featuring them in future issues.
