

Village Business Total Debt Solutions

Coming Home

After spending many weekends with friends in Ascott, Clive Taylor felt he was 'coming home' when, five years ago he and his partner, Stephanie, moved into Shipton-under-Wychwood. He was born in Kidlington and has lived in Witney and Oxford but loves every aspect of life here in the village and feels it is the perfect place to bring up his two small daughters.

Friendly Approach

Clive is keen to stress that he offers friendly service on a local basis and has no intentions of using a heavy-handed approach to resolve outstanding problems. All businesses suffer from late payment and collecting them can be time-consuming and difficult for small businesses to manage. Third party intervention often brings prompt payment!

New Business

Clive has spent more than twenty years in credit management and latterly worked for Thames Water managing a team of agents responsible for collecting commercial arrears.

He has recently launched 'Total Debt Solutions' to offer independent credit control service to accountants, solicitors' practices and small/medium sized businesses. He is well aware that many small companies and trades people have difficulty collecting payment of bills and that late payment can cause huge cash flow problems. Using his expertise, built up over the last twenty years, he is able to review existing policies and procedures, offer a detailed sales ledger management service and advise on, and recover outstanding invoices.

Not All Number Crunching!

All this talk of debt recovery and credit management could give the impression that Clive's life is all number-crunching, but that is far from the truth. As well as enjoying family life he also finds time for fishing with the Charlbury Angling Club and playing badminton at the New Beaconsfield Hall. He is very interested in politics, both national and local and helped with canvassing for the General Election in May.
