Is This the Beast of Burford?

In our April issue we reported a sighting by Fiona Macdonald-Bolton of a panther-like animal in front of the Wychwood School. Other readers had also reported sightings. This photograph, taken near Bruern Road, was submitted in response to our plea for you to let us know if you saw the beast. Our skilled photo-forensic analyst produced the beast! Is this the beast, or a hoax? We leave it up to you! Editor

Living with Your Computer
Launch of The Wychwood Online Club

Have you ever felt that your computer is more trouble than its worth, but you still know you couldn't live without it? We are launching the Wychwood Online Club in conjunction with Oxfordshire Rural Broadband, the local community-owned broadband service provider, to provide self help to all users of computers and broadband.

The Club will operate as a monthly self-help group, meeting in on of the village halls, supported by Club pages on The Wychwood web site. We will also provide a Question and Answer service through the magazine pages.
So send us those questions you've always wanted to have an answer to but never got round to asking!

Question:
When I'm using Outlook Express, how do I delete unwanted incoming mail in one go without having to delete each message separately?

Answer
One of the advantages of Windows is that the same approach will work in many different applications.
To select from a list of items, click on the first item, then press and hold down the Ctrl key and click on the each item you want in the list. Your selections in the list will then be highlighted and you can delete the lot. There are more short cuts when using lists, for more details visit:
