

Boris Wins Best in Show

Flat-coated retriever, Boris H. Chantry, who reached the grand age of 70 (or 10 in human years) this year, has won the top prize at Westcote Village Fete Dog Show. His title of Champion Best of Show saw him come first in a class of ten. The Crufts judge, who selected Boris as the winner said he was in excellent condition and had a 'fabulous top set' (teeth). Boris is taking the success in his stride and would like to thank his support team, his publicity agent and his family who, he says, have been of great support throughout his career which has included fetching, licking and protecting his household from low-flying hot air balloons.

Where Have All the Keys Gone?

In the ten years since its opening we have had many keys cut for the front door of the Beaconsfield Hall. Currently we are down to just three or four to hand out to Hall users. Where do they all go?

If you have had a key to open the Hall for a social event, class or activity and have forgotten to return it, now is your chance. Please check your pockets, handbags, key hooks, anywhere that you might have put a key and forgotten to return it. It makes the day to day running very difficult if we are trying to enable our users to get into the Hall. Cutting ever-more keys is expensive.

Please hand any keys to Lee at the Hall, or pop them into the letterbox on the left of the main doors.

Thank You

Phyllis and I would like to thank all our family and friends who so generously donated £800 on the occasion of our Diamond Wedding Anniversary in July, rather than buying us gifts, as requested. We have now passed on the money to the Churchill Hospital DUO fund. This fund has improved the gardens surrounding the kidney department, furnished the newly developed outpatients and more recently purchased vital information leaflets for patients diagnosed with cancer, to ensure up to date literature is available. To receive this amount of money made our day extra-special.
