

Dragons in the Wychwoods Library News

A record-breaking 184 children joined 'Quest Seekers', the summer reading scheme this year, with tales of dragons and a quest to find the golden book.

We rewarded the challenge to read at least six books, with stickers, bookmarks and finally a certificate and medal which was presented by Duncan Spence, Head of Wychwood Church of England Primary School.

Dragon Morning

We were also pleased to be visited by the Oxford Museum Service, who enlightened children and their parents with tales and exhibits of early explorers as well as a colourful craft session; do look out for the result of our other craft session, 'Dragon Morning' now suspended from the ceiling of the children's area. Very many thanks to Maureen Sandate who invented the fantastic beast and helped out on the day. Some of you may have attempted 'A Village Quest', devised by Liz Newport with challenging questions about our locality. Well done to all who completed the task. SWYCH have placed two energy monitors with Wychwood Library for lending out for a month at a time to check on your energy usage. Come in and book one as they are proving very popular.

So Who Were You?

Ancestry week (p.m. on the 12th, 14th and 16th October) is fast approaching. The library will be hosting one - hour long sessions with help from the Wychwood Volunteers using the county's free service, ANCESTRY. Make a booking and come and find out about your ancestors.

Free Book Delivery

Another free service available at Wychwood Library is book delivery to our housebound readers. Angela Townsend is working with the WRVS to visit customers in their homes. Let us know if you would like to be part of this.

We look forward to seeing you at Wychwood Library.

Ruth, Liz and Angela.
