

Wychwood Library News

We wish you a very happy Christmas and New Year and with special thanks to all who have supported and promoted Wychwood Library during these uncertain times. There is still no news on the provision of Library services across Oxfordshire and I understand that it could be late December before the full details are known and decisions made. So we carry on as normal.

We are nearly into our third year of Wednesday coffee mornings. Sadly the price of chocolate over that time has increased, so from the beginning of January the price for filter coffee and cake will be £1.50. Funds go towards new books.

Boys Only?

For our younger Library customers, look out for the Christmas colouring competition. Great prizes to be won. Also look out for the times of the Wychwood Wordpeckers meetings with Liz. New members are welcome and there is a possibility of a 'boy's only' reading group if you think that is a good idea. Let us know.

Unwind, Brush Up and Knit!

We have a new special collection of books in the Library called 'Unwind Your Mind'. These self-help books can be highly effective when used on their own, as can novels or poetry which reflect situations experienced by people who struggle with difficult times in their lives; for example coping with grief, not being able to sleep or problems with relationships.

I am sure that you will have noticed the wonderful flowers in the Library over the past months. These were provided by Mary Edginton and Sue Cunningham and I would just like to say 'thank you' for their weekly displays and we look forward to next season's blooms.

With many thanks to the Wychwood Volunteers, we will be running a 'Brush up your computer skills' session on the last Wednesday afternoon of each month from January 2011. Book early to secure a place.

IKNIT has happily resumed every second Thursday morning from 10.30am until 12 noon. All knitters are welcome to share and learn skills and have a cup of coffee or tea and a natter.
