

Wychwood C. E. Primary School

The office is a busy place and some of the Year 5 children became 'office fairies' to help us. To become an office fairy they had to apply in writing and here is one of the applications:

Tuesday, FSU and KS1 were entertained by Peter Chand, an excellent Indian storyteller and the KS2 pupils participated in choral workshops led by Adam Treadaway, of the Cotswold Children's Choir. On Wednesday Mrs Khan taught each class a little about her religion - Islam. On Thursday there were the ever popular African Drumming workshops and the KS2 children were visited by Adele Moss who told stories from Judaism. The week finished with Food Tasting on Friday morning when foods such as borscht, blinis and jam from Russia and spicy noodle soup, prawn crackers and moon biscuits from China were provided by staff and parents.

In addition the children have been very busy learning about the country of their choice. Our thanks go to Mrs Finch, Mrs Loxton and Mrs Daulton for organising and co-ordinating the whole week for us. They did a splendid job!

"We would like to be the office fairies because we love to help others; we would never be late or not turn up. We would be raring to go in the morning to start our daily job and for the whole seven weeks we will be loyal and polite. We are also kind and love to see smiley faces. Please can you choose us (we are polishing our wands already)".

Fairy Wishes. Olivia Whitehouse and Amelia Moran.

This is just one of 10 letters and needless to say we could not say no to any of them so they are helping on a rota basis - and very good fairies they are!

International Week

This year's International Week was a roaring success. The week started with dance lessons provided by the Education Group. Each class learned a routine from the country they were studying. This work was showcased to parents in two after-school assemblies and was enjoyed by all in attendance. On Monday and Tuesday the children were involved in Hindu workshops provided by teachers from the Hindu Temple in Hertfordshire. Also on

End of an Era

Rita Baldwin will be retiring at Christmas after working at the school for just over 30 years. She has seen many changes over the years with the extensions to the school buildings and comings and goings of staff. We have children starting at school whose parents were taught by Rita! We would like to thank her for all her hard work and dedication to the school.
