

Thanks for the Memories School Reunion at The Lamb

I was surprised to learn that most of my old school mates still live in and around Shipton and all regularly bump into each other. Word of the reunion spread quickly so we had a good turn out on the evening. After a quick glance it became obvious who everyone was- no need to break any ice!

I was surprised at how many people remembered my Mum and Dad, our home at the top of Fiddlers Hill and my Dad's old car, a banger of an Austin A40 that he had painted himself. What was fun was listening to stories of the things that we got up to, but from the other person's perspective. I realised that many of the old memories I had stashed away in my head were in fact only half the story, and that in many cases there were things I had totally forgotten about.

It was a warm and beautiful evening, so we stayed mostly outside, and for me it was wonderful to be amongst my old school friends again, in such a lovely tranquil spot.

Are we going to meet again next year? You bet we are! There is lots of catching up to do! Details of where and when we shall meet again to follow early next year.
